(Washington) The following statement was released today by ITTA - The Voice of America's Broadband Providers and may be attributed to Genny Morelli, President of ITTA:

"ITTA is disappointed that the House of Representatives has embraced an overly burdensome and outdated regulatory regime in passing the Save the Internet Act of 2019."

"ITTA pledges to work with the Senate and the House of Representatives to continue promoting policies that close the digital divide, not those that impose unnecessary regulations on the very providers striving to bring advanced broadband networks to all Americans."
